RE: Cordova Rd Traffic Projections

Methodology Memo

This memo defines the procedures outlined in the Transportation Planning and Programming (TPP) Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) used to forecast traffic volumes for use in operational analysis, pavement design, and air and noise analysis. The traffic projections are based on historical traffic data, Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) planning map projections and known future developments along the corridor. The procedures were used to estimate the annual growth rates, heavy truck percentages, K-Factors, D-Factors, and daily traffic volumes along the corridor for the Base Year (2028), Forecasted 20-Year (2048), and Forecasted 30-Year (2058).

Study Area:

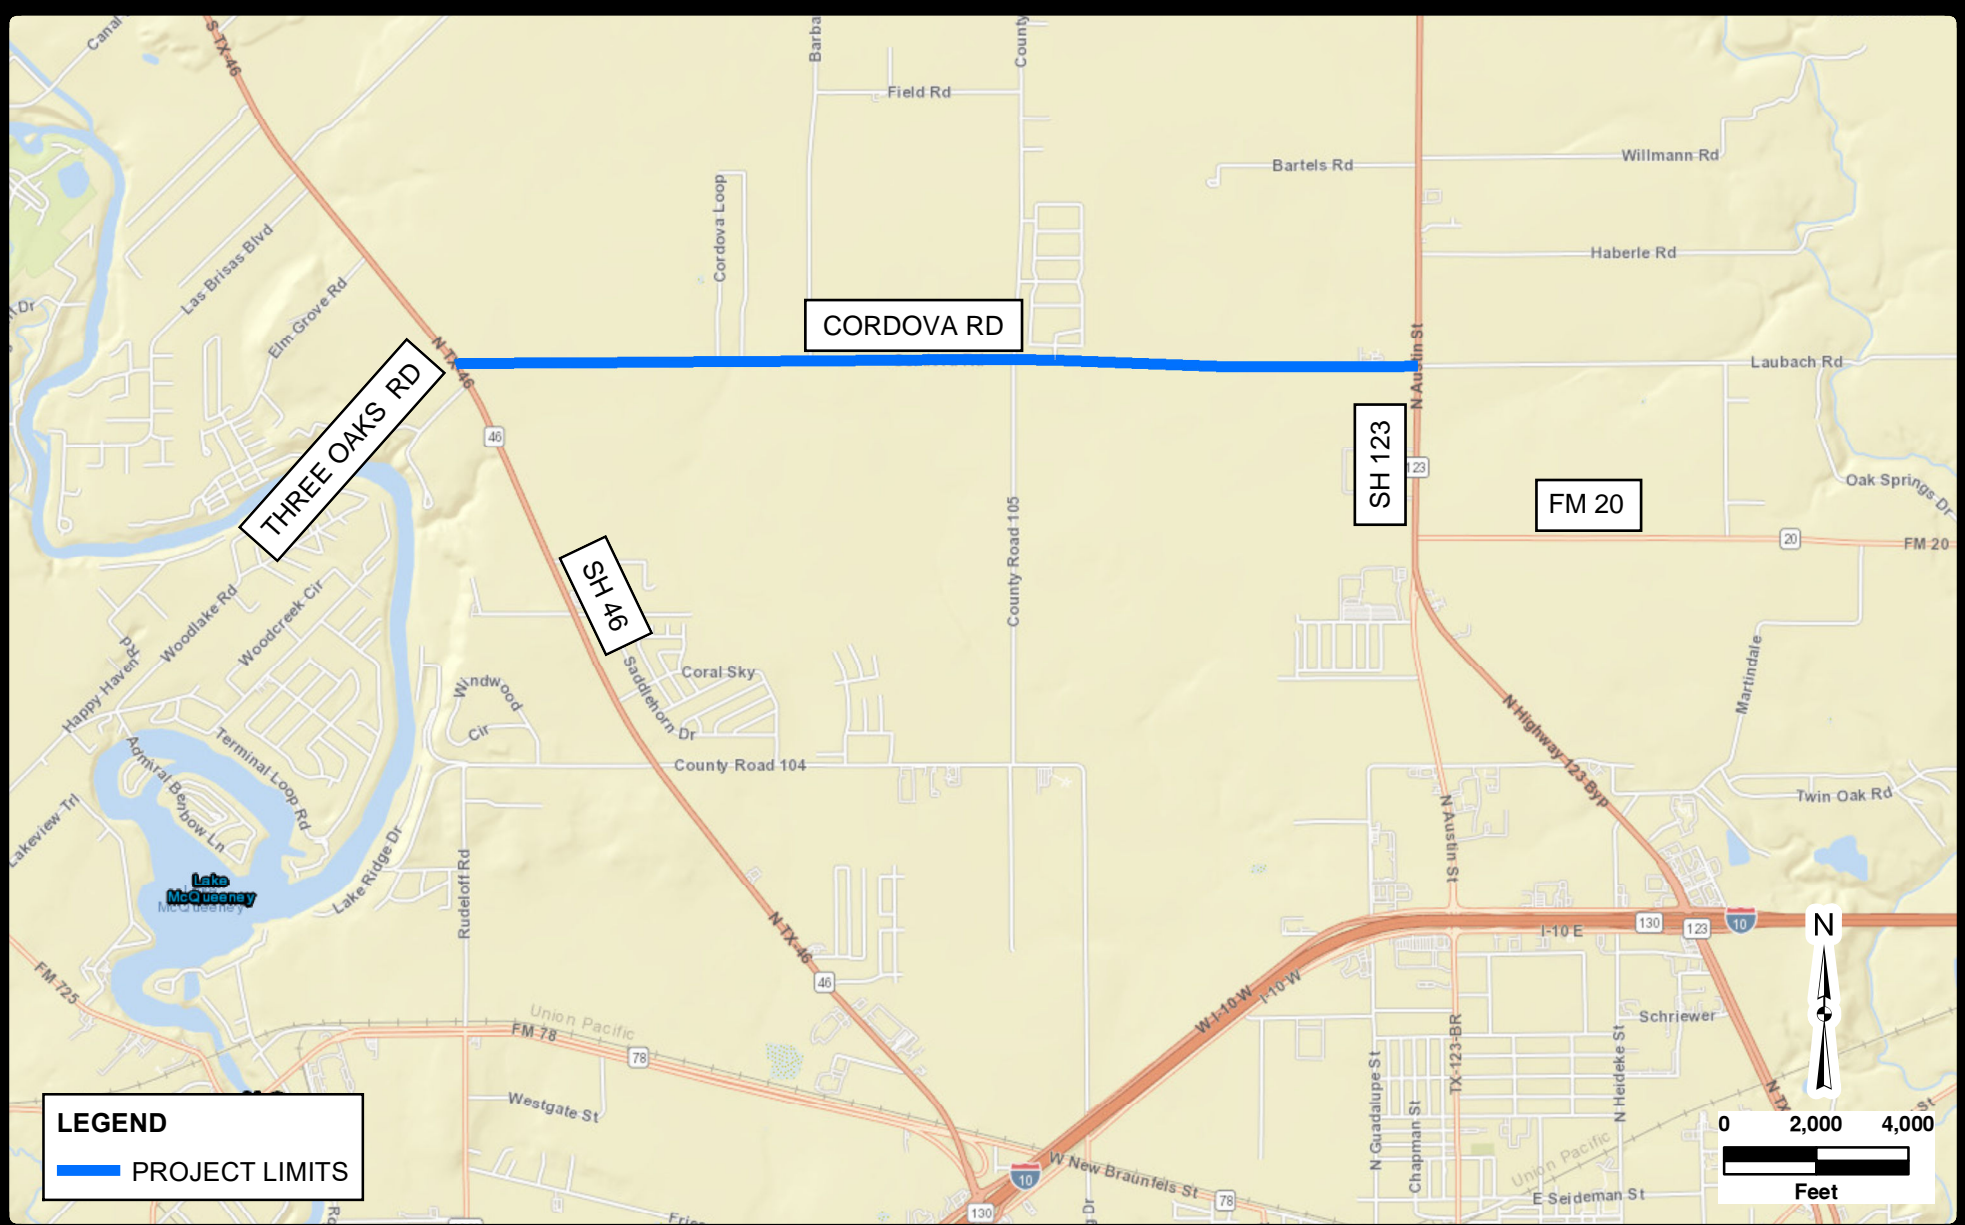

Cordova Road is located just north of IH-10 in the City of Seguin, Guadalupe County, and is approximately 3.4 miles long with project limits from SH 46 to SH 123. The project limits are shown in Figure 1.

Project Background:

Cordova Road is oriented in the east-west direction and currently serves as a two-lane collector road between SH 46 and SH 123. Most of the traffic utilizing Cordova Road is assumed to be generated by the residential developments and cut through traffic between the major roadways. This section of Cordova Road is identified in the City of Seguin Thoroughfare Plan as an Arterial Roadway, and is mostly residential with light commercial and used largely for daily commute and connects rural communities to nearby urban areas. The proposed City of Seguin project includes widening Cordova Road to four-lanes with raised medians and left-turn bays or a five-lane section with two-way left-turn lane (TWLTL), drainage improvements, and pedestrian/bicycle shared use paths along both sides of the project.

In addition, the proposed project will realign Cordova Road near SH 46 to intersect at a 90-degree angle at Three Oaks Road, south of the current alignment. Operational improvements including turn lanes, traffic signals, and all-way stop control will be provided at the intersections which warrant improvements. A separate traffic study is being prepared for Cordova Road based on the traffic projections contained in this memo and will include a summary of the final improvement recommendations.

Existing Traffic Counts:

On May 12th, 2022, the City of Seguin collected 4-hour turning movement counts (TMCs) at Cordova Loop/Cordova Crossing, Barbarosa Road and Prairie Junction, and 12-hour TMCs at SH 46 and SH 123 which includes passenger vehicles, heavy vehicles, and pedestrians along the project corridor. In addition, the city also collected 24-hour TMCs at the Cordova Road and Huber Road intersection. The count locations are shown in Figure 2. The counts showed the existing AM and PM peak hours along the corridor were from 7:00-8:00 AM and 5:00-6:00 PM. They also showed the existing average daily traffic (ADT) along the corridor was approximately 6,300 vehicles per day near the Huber Road intersection. Actual collected count data is shown in Figure 3.

Vehicle Classification Data & D Factor

The relevant vehicle classification data was used to determine heavy vehicle percentages, and D factor were obtained from the existing TMC data at Barbarosa Road and Cordova Road count location which is located centrally along the project corridor. The D factor at this intersection was determined to be 60% which is in the eastbound direction.

TxDOT Traffic Count Database System Data (TCDS):

Historic Data

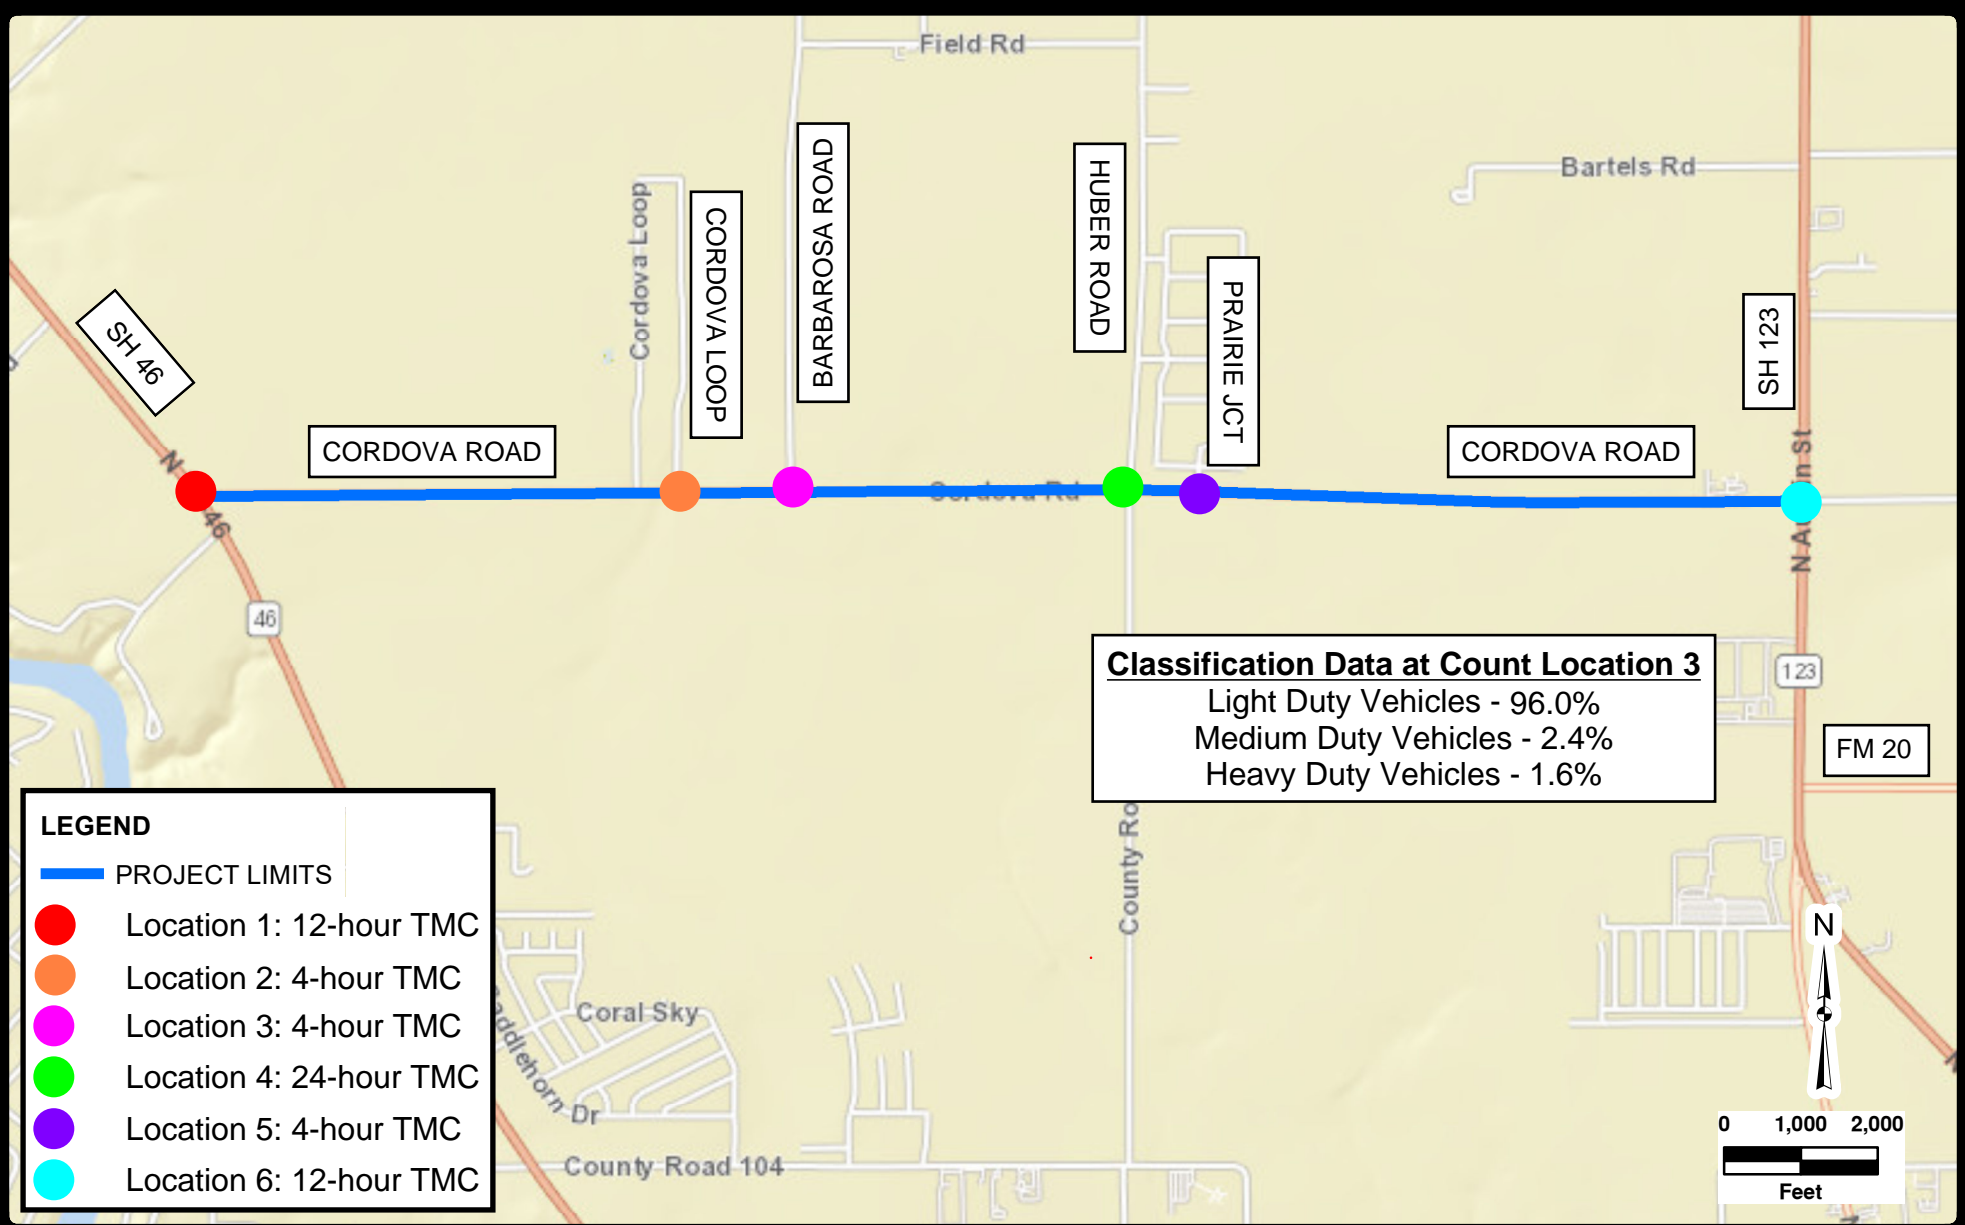

Relevant historic count data was obtained from the TCDS to calculate growth rates between 2001 and 2021. There were no TCDS count stations along the Cordova Road corridor, however there were several within less than a mile of the corridor along SH 123, SH 46 and FM 20 which were utilized given the proximity to Cordova Road. The TCDS counts locations used are shown below and in Figure 4.

- Six annual Accumulative Count Recorder (ACR) counts were available outside of the corridor limits
 - 95H122 – SH 46, North of Cordova Road
 - 95H121 – SH 46, South of Cordova Road
 - 95D2 – SH 123, North of Cordova Road (Included data available from 2011-2021)
 - 95H4 – SH 123, South of Cordova Road
 - 95H24 – SH 123, North of IH 10
 - 95H23A – FM 20, South of Cordova Road

K Factor

The permanent count stations were not available in the immediate vicinity of the project corridor and as such, K factors were obtained from the TxDOT's TCDS count locations as listed above.

Growth Rate:

The growth rate for each Annual ACR count was calculated by applying the linear growth formula as directed on TPP's Corridor Analysis Standard Operating Procedures (SOP). Table 1 shows the calculated annual growth rate from each historic Annual ACR count location available within the corridor based on data from 2001-2021. A growth rate of 1.0% was calculated for the corridor using a weighted average of the counts. Figure 5 shows the location and calculated growth rate of each count station.

Table 1: TCDS Historic Count Growth Rates

TCDS Historic Count Location	Linear Growth Rate (2001-2021)
95H122	1.8%
95H121	2.0%
95D2	2.4%
95H4	0.1%
95H24	0.6%
95H23A	-0.8%
Weighted Average	1.0%
Recommended Annual Rate of Growth	5.0%

As per TPP's SOP, since the minimum growth rate of Cordova Road is less than 2%, a default growth rate of 2.0% could be used for the 20-Year Condition and SOP recommended growth rate of 2.0% could be used for the 30-Year Condition.

But, in addition to the TxDOT historical counts, we also reviewed the Alamo Area MPO Travel Demand model volumes and projections for years 2015, 2025, and 2045 which show 3,801, 7,077, 9,778 vehicles per day. These projections assume an 8.6% annual growth rate between 2015 and 2025 and 5.2 % annual growth rate from 2015 and 2035. While these are higher than the calculated growth based on historical counts from TCDS, these growth rates are likely more reasonable based on the development that has been occurring with the study area. As such, a linear growth rate of 5% is recommended for both 20-year and 30-year conditions.

K & D Factors:

TPP defines K factor as the percentage of ADT representing the 30th highest hourly volume in the design year; and D factor as the proportion of design hourly volume (DHV) occurring in the heavier direction, called Directional Split. These factors which are usually captured by the permanent count stations were not available in the immediate vicinity of the project corridor and as such, K factors were obtained from the same TxDOT’s TCDS count locations, as listed in Table 2. The K factors varied between 7-10% at the different count stations selected, however the 95H23A count station on FM 20 just east of SH 123 was the most representative location since it had similar cross section and is oriented in an east-west direction like Cordova Road. The recommended K-factor was 10%.

The D factor was obtained from the existing TMC data at Barbarosa Road and Cordova Road count location and was determined to be 60% in the eastbound direction.

Table 2: TCDS Historic K Factors

TCDS Historic Count Location	K Factor (2021)
95H122	7%
95H121	7%
95D2	9%
95H4	9%
95H24	8%
95H23A	10%
Recommended Rates	10%

Assumed Truck Percentages:

The truck percentages used in analysis were determined from the existing TMC data at Barbarosa Road and Cordova Road count location which is located centrally along the project corridor. Table 3 shows the assumed truck percentages along Cordova Road corridor. This section of Cordova Road will be used largely by commuters to/from the surrounding areas along the project corridor. The truck percentages include Light, Medium and Heavy Vehicles. The projected ADT and DHV truck percentages are 4.0% and 3.9% respectively.

Table 3: Assumed Truck Percentages

Classification Data	ADT	DHV
Light Duty (Classes 1-3)	96.0%	96.1%
Medium Duty (Classes 4-5)	2.4%	2.1%
Heavy Duty (Classes 6 -15)	1.6%	1.8%
Total Trucks	4.0%	3.9%

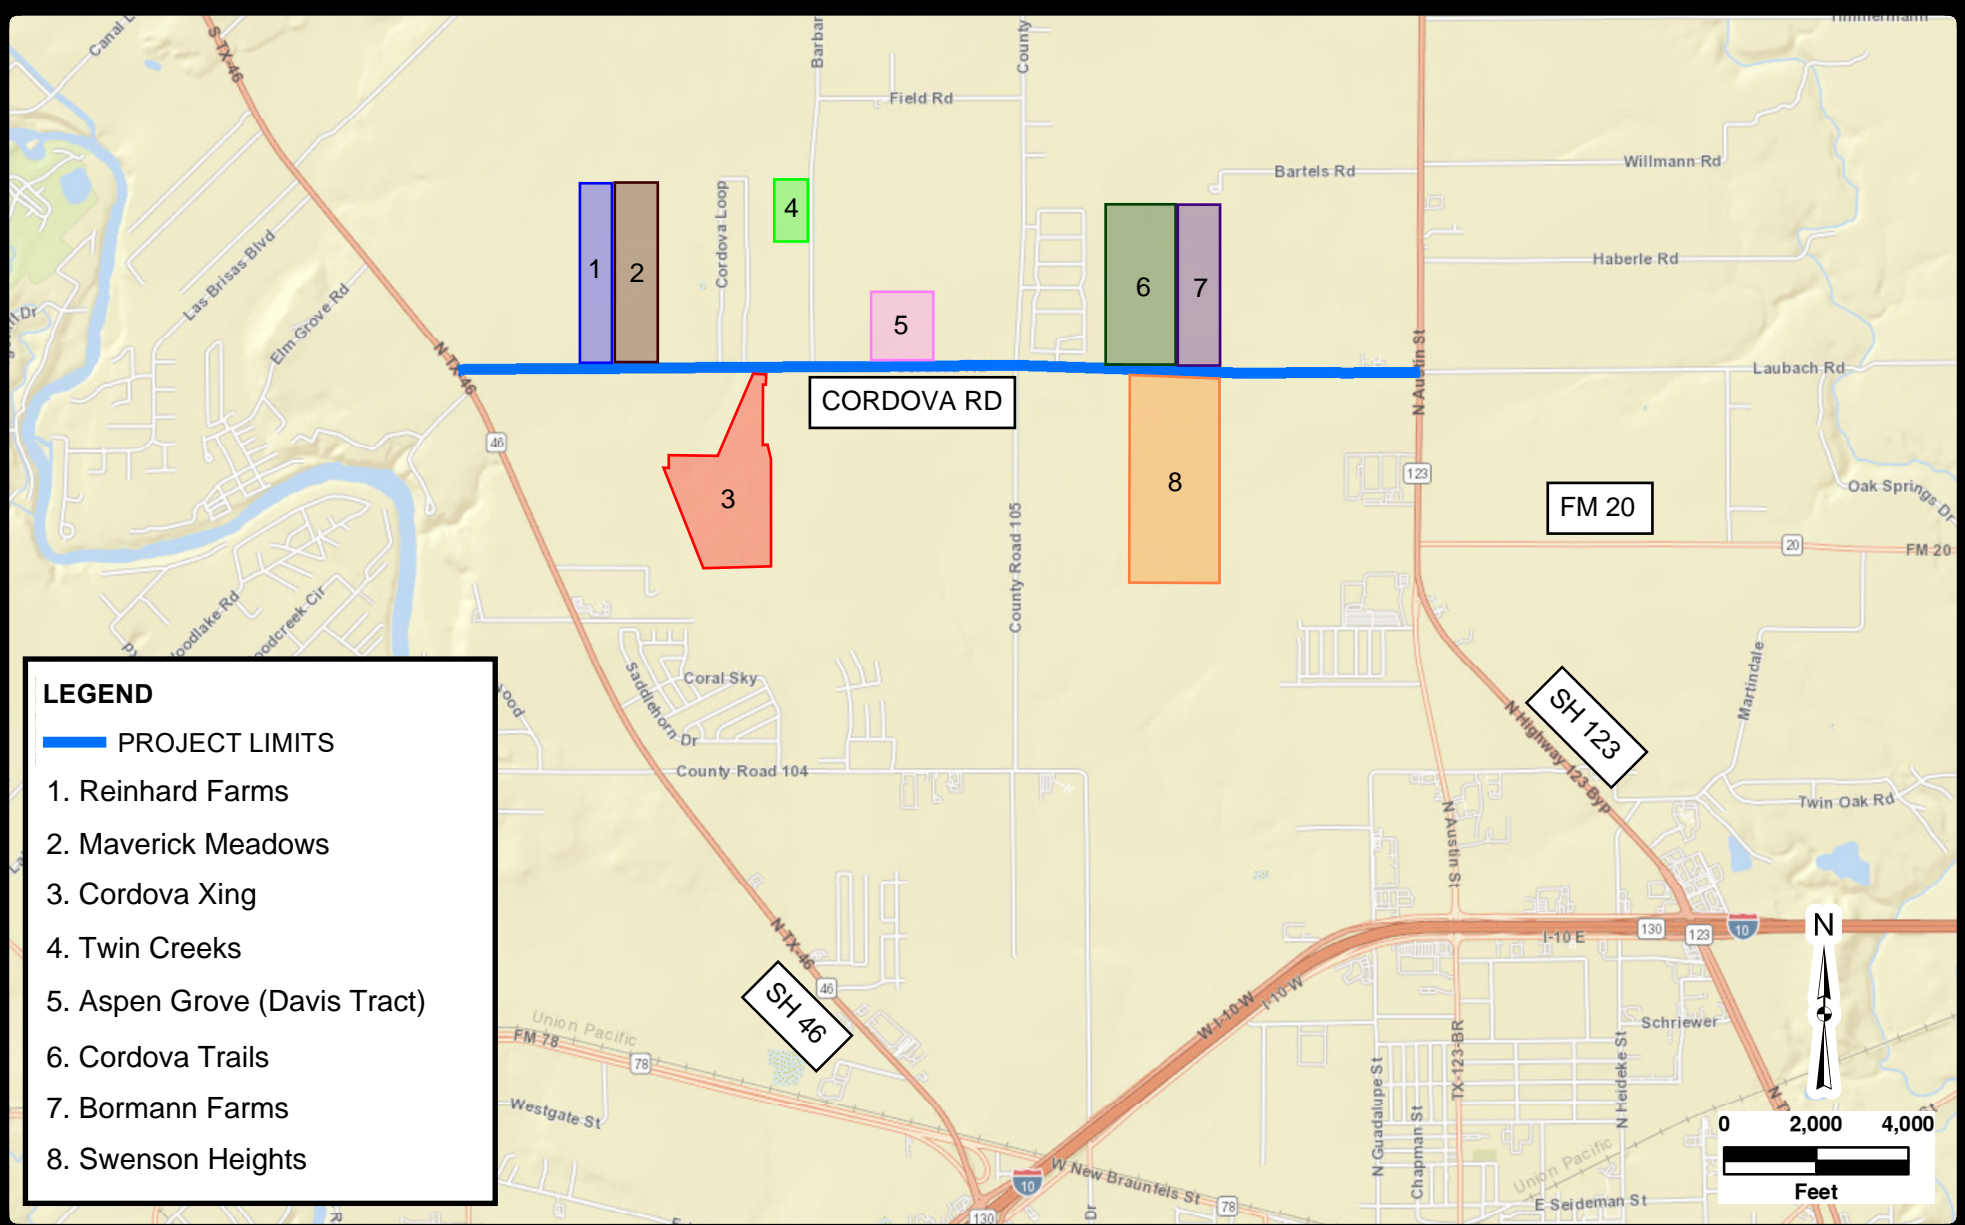

Proposed Developments:

In addition to the existing TMC counts, the proposed site trips from the surrounding developments were taken into consideration to calculate the traffic projections for the opening year (2028) as well as forecast years (2048 and 2058). The surrounding sites, type of development and total trips generated are shown in Table 4 while the proposed development locations are shown in Figure 6. These developments are assumed to be completed and have traffic generated in the year 2028. A trip distribution rate of 60% was assumed to be generated from IH-10, located south of Cordova Road and 40% was assumed to be generated from IH-35, located north of Cordova Road. As such, the trips generated from each development were distributed strategically using a 50-50 split along Cordova Road and added to each intersection location along the project corridor. The total daily trips for each development were estimated based on the density and expected land-uses using the ITE Trip Generation Manual or as shown in the approved traffic impact analyses. The total site trips were then added to the grown traffic volumes for the study years 2028, 2048 and 2058 accordingly to calculate the traffic projections.

Method:

Traffic line diagrams showing projected daily turning movement counts for the existing and no-build conditions were developed for the Opening Year (2028), Forecasted 20-Year (2048), and Forecasted 30-Year (2058), and are shown in Appendix A. The traffic projections were developed using the developed growth rates, existing traffic counts along the corridor and side streets, and total trips generated from the proposed developments around the project corridor. It should be noted that the development traffic volumes were added to the opening year (2028) assuming all developments are fully built and occupied by then. The recommended 5% growth rate was only applied to the existing condition traffic volumes, and not to the projected development trips since those developments are not expected to produce additional trips once fully developed. The growth rate is intended to account for additional future development along the Cordova Road from unknown projects.

The annual effective growth rate being applied to this corridor between 2022 and 2048 is 14% which includes the 5% background growth rate plus the additional daily trips added to Cordova Road from the known development projects.

Table 5 shows the recommended growth rates and factors that are proposed to be used for the traffic projections along Cordova Road. The Traffic Analysis for Highway Design sheets are shown in Appendix B, all traffic count data is included in Appendix C.
